

Style

- 14 — Scout
- 16 — Colour palette
- 18 — Bookmarks
- 20 — Brass essentials
- 22 — Seasonal updates
- 24 — Tech teamwork
- 26 — Two ways with
- 30 — Looks we love
- 38 — What's news
- 40 — Fresh fittings
- 43 — Paint trends
- 51 — NKBA Awards

Old-school elements (the oven, the kettle) come together with contemporary ones in this space — one of several in the story on page 30 that showcases key kitchen and bathroom looks you need to know about.

HEY,

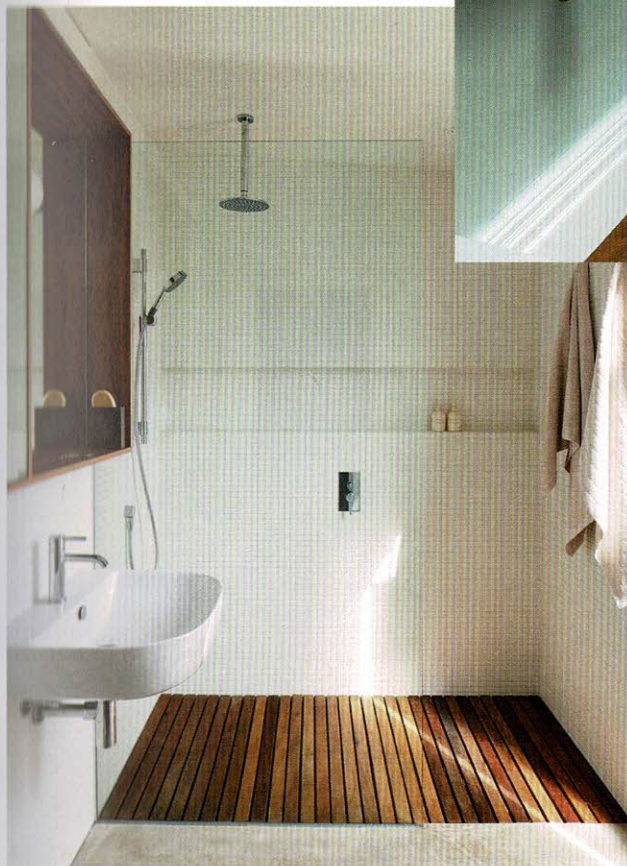

THAT'S

COOL

These lasting looks for kitchens and bathrooms
have made an impression on us — and we suspect you'll feel the same.

ABOVE & RIGHT Excellent use of wall lighting by Melbourne's Studio Martin (above) and Auckland architect Rebecca Walker (right). BELOW & OPPOSITE A built-in ledge in the shower at Maria and James Hosking's place (below), and a built-in bath at the Auckland home of Sandii McDonald and Jared Reynolds of Babylon Gardens, with a marble surround that paves the way for an antique marble basin (opposite).

WALL GOOD

As glowing orbs or gem-like sconces, another covetable look is wall lighting, which is particularly chic in petite bathrooms and powder rooms, creating a dressing-table feel when paired with a mirror and vanity. Team wall lights with task lights and natural light so they don't cast shadows on one side of your face, or put them on a separate switch so you can use them on their own when you're winding down at night.